Our History

The Elmhurst Artists' Guild, one of the oldest and foremost guilds in Chicago's western suburbs, was incorporated in 1946. The first Guild meeting was held in Ms. Jane Duncan's Art & Gift Shop at 551 Spring Road in Elmhurst.

From this humble beginning, the Guild has continued to grow through monthly meetings, artist demonstrations and local exhibits. In the 1950's and '60's, when sidewalk art fairs became a popular way to exhibit art, the Elmhurst Artists' Guild was at the forefront in encouraging artists to exhibit, gain recognition and find a saleable market.

At that time, the Guild was instrumental in sponsoring one of the more important art fairs in the Chicagoland area. It drew well over 100 exhibitors from various Midwestern states as well as participants from the east and west coasts.

Guild Home

The Elmhurst Art Museum is the Guild's home. In 1989 and 1990, the Guild consummated an agreement for the sale of its property to the Elmhurst Park District. This land, adjacent to Wilder Park, cleared the way for expansion of Wilder Park and the building of the museum, and secured a permanent home for the Guild.

Permanent Collection

The Guild maintains a permanent art collection. This collection contains works from outstanding regional artists:

*Ruth Van Sickel Ford • Curt Frankenstein
Ralph Furmanski • Darlene Hoekstra
Eleanor Hookham • Willard Knudson • John Naylor
Leroy Neiman • Irving Shapiro • Charles Vickery*

Come Grow with Us!

As our membership grows, so grows your opportunity to grow along with the Guild. We need your interest and your enthusiasm. You'll meet, socialize and exchange ideas with other artists who share common interests. Now is the time to join when you can be part of what's happening.
